Candidate wishes private incident accounts to be sent directly to screening: Yes.

Best contact period: weekdays after 15:30; early shift changes occasionally apply.

Consent to electronic notices: Yes.

Information supplied about contact arrangements: the candidate starts warehouse work early and may not answer during loading. Email is preferred because he can read an attachment at home. He has no nominated interpreter and asks that requests identify the exact record needed. The employer can leave a message asking him to contact screening but is not nominated as an agent to alter his personal answers.

Intake address checklist: current address entered; previous-address fields legible; dates entered as month and year where an exact day was not recalled. The older Driver address is included for name-history matching even though most of that residence precedes the requested period. No envelope is attached to this form. Supporting identity copies and financial statements are received as separate attachments and are not transcribed into these fields.

Candidate declaration beside this section: I have read the address question and the entries above are my completed response. Signature transcription: Callum J Hartigan, 21 September 2026. The administrative checklist records that a response was given; it does not certify that the address history has been independently verified.

SECTION D - CHILD-RELATED WORK

Employer: Top End Junior Football Association.

Employment type: paid casual part-time appointment, proposed six hours a week.

Team category: children under 12, mixed skills groups.

Task selection: coaching assistance; equipment; attendance; match-day support.

Home visits: no. Overnight camps: no. Transport in personal vehicle: no.

Online contact with individual children: no private messaging authorised.

Expected locations: SYN-Ground-A and SYN-Ground-B, Association training venues.

Ordinary times: Tuesday and Thursday afternoons; occasional Saturday fixtures.

Line supervisor: head coach, rostered for each session.

The role involves direct instruction of under-12 children during drills and matches.

Specific activities: set cones, explain passing drills, assist warm-up, organise short practice games, collect equipment, mark attendance with the head coach and advise the head coach of injuries. Payment is for session hours and preparation time. It is not a warehouse secondment or a grounds-only role.

Past child-related involvement: volunteer assistant with Palmerston Magpies Junior Club for the 2024 and 2025 seasons.

Dates entered: March to September in each season. Previous notice recorded on club register: issued 1 February 2024, expired 1 February 2026; historical identifier INVALID-OC-PREV-CJH. Candidate is not relying on that expired notice for the present work. No coaching is declared for 2026 before this proposed appointment.

Other current employment: Arafura Freight Logistics, full-time warehouse shift supervisor since August 2022. Employer letter attached. The applicant states that early warehouse shifts permit afternoon sessions, subject to overtime notices. Association supervisor will cancel a session assignment if the candidate cannot arrive before children are admitted.

Uniform issue requested: adult polo size L; cap; first-aid belt pouch to be carried only when directed. Keys: no personal key to a child changing area. Storage access: head coach opens and closes the equipment bay. Expenses: kilometre reimbursement does not authorise carriage of children. Equipment inventory duties remain visible to the supervisor; any unexpected change in roster requires a replacement supervisor rather than informal parent oversight.

SECTION E - HISTORY DISCLOSURE

Convictions: Yes.

Details supplied: aggravated assault, Darwin, incident 12 November 2016, sentencing 3 April 2017, Local Court, Criminal Code s188. Pleaded guilty; conviction recorded; eight months imprisonment wholly suspended and twelve-month good behaviour bond. Court remarks and bond completion letter attached.

Other criminal history: New Zealand youth shoplifting matter, 2011, diversion completed, no conviction. Police disclosure attached.

Traffic: one speeding infringement in 2024, paid; traffic history attached.

Employment discipline relevant to conduct: written warning, Stuart Highway Building Supplies, 2019, verbal argument in yard and clipboard thrown. Personnel extract attached. No injury was reported. Candidate has included this event although it was not a court matter.

Treatment or program material: Top End Men's Pathways, men's behaviour change course, September 2021 to March 2022. Certificate and exit report supplied separately. Candidate identifies the program as voluntary attendance during the order period, with attendance continuing into March. No medical report is enclosed. The candidate does not authorise a referee to rewrite his account of the domestic incident.

Character material: five references, each signed by its writer. The writer is asked to state the relationship and the period of direct knowledge. References are not sworn witness accounts of the 2016 nightclub incident or the March 2021 argument unless the writer says otherwise. The candidate has included work and club references to show conduct in structured settings over time.

Checklist initials: CJH beside each positive history response. Intake use: narrative statement received after form; police extracts separately indexed. A checked 'No' answer records the candidate's answer, not a database search result. Where a supplied record is inconsistent with an answer, the original wording remains available for assessment. No attachment on this page is incorporated by replacing a candidate response.

SECTIONS F AND G - IDENTITY AND REFEREE DETAILS

Identity copies submitted: Australian citizenship certificate, NT driver licence, New Zealand passport, Medicare card, NT registered change of name, visa-status printout. Certified copy bundle attached. Current photograph appears on the licence and passport copy. The name-change copy is supplied to link the two surnames.

Licence name: Callum James Hartigan.

The candidate has not requested that the passport be treated as evidence of current Australian visa status. The visa printout is attached to explain the historical entry status. The licence address is transcribed on the identity copy; this form records the candidate's present residence independently.

Referee 1: Samuel Hartigan; family friend; known since childhood.

Referee 2: Moira Kells; former club equipment volunteer; known 2024-2025.

Referee 3: Devika Soren; current warehouse manager; known since August 2022.

Referee 4: Owen Pritch; community garden coordinator; known since late 2022.

Referee 5: Tessa Wren; junior club head coach; known since March 2024.

Contact addresses: each writer's own example.invalid email in their letter.

Telephone contacts: invalid training placeholders, 08 7000 0xxx.

How letters were obtained: candidate asked each writer directly; the coach and current employer sent their letters through the Association office. Candidate has not asserted that all writers are independent witnesses to every historical event. Dates and signatures are retained as supplied. Reference collection is distinct from the statutory authority to obtain police information.

Employer identity check field: administrative staff compared the two names using the registered name-change copy; no real database query was performed in this synthetic record. Documents carrying invalid test identifiers cannot be used for real identity verification. Copy bundle prepared as a single certified-transcription document, with each source item occupying its own page. Copies do not establish residential chronology without reading the date and address printed on each item.

Return checklist: signature required; all attachments to retain page numbers; original certificates to be kept by candidate.

Candidate initials: CJH. Employer initials: LC.

Employers are to receive engagement notices through their nominated coordinator. Personal information is distributed within the test file for screening evaluation only.
