Subject: good behaviour bond associated with sentence of 3 April 2017

Dear Mr Byrne,

The registry records that the twelve-month good behaviour bond associated with the Darwin Local Court sentence has reached its completion date. This advice relates to the bond and linked compliance record. It does not expunge the recorded conviction or replace the sentencing order. Please retain it with your copy of that order.

The good behaviour bond was completed on 3 April 2018 without any recorded breach.

No proceeding to activate the suspended term is recorded in the linked compliance file. This advice is issued from the completion entry and does not provide a new judicial finding about the original offence. It should be read with the date and reference above.

Registry table:

Defendant name on order | Callum James Byrne

Birth date | 17 August 1994

Sentence date | 3 April 2017

Term imposed | eight months imprisonment, wholly suspended

Bond duration | twelve months

Bond completion entry | 3 April 2018

Breach application in linked file | none recorded

Custody activation in linked file | none recorded

You need not attend the registry solely to acknowledge this letter. Any later request for a certified historical extract should quote the court reference and identify the document required. A future name change does not alter the name used on the original proceeding; supply the linkage if requesting a copy under another surname.

This letter concerns sentence compliance. It is not a clearance notice for employment, a character reference or a police search covering every jurisdiction. Do not substitute it for a criminal-history result where a form asks for that result. The date of completion remains part of the history and can be stated alongside the recorded conviction.

Yours faithfully,

Orla Finch, fictional registry clerk

REISSUE ENDORSEMENT - HISTORICAL ADVICE

Request received: 24 September 2026.

Requester: Callum James Hartigan, formerly Callum James Byrne.

Original advice date: 3 April 2018.

Reissue identifier: INVALID-REG-COPY-CJH.

Document copied: bond completion advice and associated result-control fields.

The applicant supplied the registered change-of-name record linking the request name to the original defendant name. The registry copy retains Byrne on the historical advice. The reissue date is not a new bond commencement or completion date. No amendment to the sentence is represented by this administrative endorsement.

Copy-control fields:

Original court reference supplied | yes, invalid exercise identifier

Birth date on request | matched to historical order

Name-change link supplied | yes, registered 3 May 2019

Original completion date retained | yes

Recorded conviction removed | no

New sentence imposed | no

Linked breach entry found on copy review | none recorded

The advice is limited to what the linked court file records. It does not state that the applicant had no workplace discipline after 2018 or that no protective order was later imposed. Those are different records and must be read from their own sources. Registry staff have not interviewed any referee or examined coaching work for this copy request.

Mailing instruction supplied for reissue: candidate email, callum.hartigan@example.invalid. The historical address on the first page has not been replaced by the current address because the first page is a copy of the original advice. This method preserves the chronology needed when the name and residence have changed.

Synthetic record notice: no live court system has been queried. Every case identifier, signature and contact field is a deliberately invalid value. The reissue is a document within the fictional fixture and cannot be presented as proof about an actual individual. Questions in the exercise should be answered using the wording printed on the source pages.

Copy certified for exercise completeness by Orla Finch, fictional clerk, 24 September 2026. Certification establishes that both printed pages belong to this synthetic copy packet; it does not broaden the scope of the original advice. No further attachment accompanies this letter.
