To whom it may concern,

My name is Samuel Hartigan and I am a long-time family friend of Callum.

I have known him since he was a boy in New Zealand, and I have seen him regularly since we have both been living in the Territory. We meet for food or a bit of gardening and sometimes spend a Saturday fixing things around the house. I am writing because he asked me to say what I know, not because I have a job with the football association.

I know about the fight in 2016 and the order with Jessica. I was not standing outside the nightclub and I was not in the house during that argument. I cannot say who was there or what anybody saw. I know he went to the men's group. When he first talked about it he sounded annoyed at having to explain himself. Later he started talking about stopping himself instead of about what the other person had done.

He helped me carry a lot of furniture in 2022. Moving is usually a good way to have a row. We did have a disagreement about a booking time, but he put the papers down and went for a walk around the block. We finished the move later. I am not saying that proves everything, only that it was different from the way he used to get stuck in an argument.

I have seen him come home from junior training tired but pleased because a child finally got a passing drill. He did not tell me children's private information. I have not watched every session and I am not giving a coaching assessment. I think he takes it seriously.

He still talks fast when he thinks he is right. In the times I have been around him lately it has not gone into shouting or throwing things. I believe he would follow the head coach's rules. The decision is yours and I know there are records to read besides my letter.
