We confirm that Mr Hartigan has worked full time as a warehouse shift supervisor at Arafura Freight Logistics since August 2022.

Ordinary paid hours are thirty-eight weekly, with approved overtime when required. The workplace is an adult freight warehouse. His role is to allocate loading tasks, check manifests, maintain safe access lanes and escalate unresolved delivery issues to the operations manager. It is not a child-related appointment.

Mr Hartigan has advised us of the proposed part-time junior coaching job. Secondary employment has been noted subject to attendance and fatigue requirements. We do not schedule junior sessions and cannot provide the required child supervision. Our approval of secondary work is an employment administration matter, not a statutory clearance opinion.

Personnel conduct search: no disciplinary findings for violence, threats or aggressive conduct since commencement. Routine feedback about handover clarity and task demonstration is recorded as ordinary supervision. The operations manager's separate reference discusses direct observation. This confirmation is based on the employment record and does not certify what happened at any former workplace or residence.

We have included routine training and roster excerpts because they were requested with proof of ongoing work. Customer names, vehicle registrations, bank accounts and real worker identifiers are excluded. All private parties, the business and staff are fictional. Signed: Beren Holt, payroll and personnel administrator, 26 September 2026.

Normal roster changes are entered with manager approval. A notation of overtime is not an absence from an outside appointment and does not establish that the proposed October coaching timetable has been worked. The employee is responsible for advising the association if warehouse duties conflict. Fatigue requirements continue to apply when secondary work is undertaken.

Payroll has not disclosed actual bank details, tax identifiers, wage account numbers or emergency-contact particulars. This synthetic extract uses no real employee signature or employer registration. Leave and training entries are ordinary context in a long employment file. They are not separate indicators of present risk to children. Prepared by Beren Holt, fictional administrator. RECORD RELEASE INVENTORY AND SECONDARY EMPLOYMENT NOTE

Release date: 26 September 2026.

Candidate authority received: 23 September 2026.

Pages: employment confirmation; training extract; roster extract; this inventory.

Separate reference: Devika Soren's personal workplace observations, supplied independently.

Secondary employment notification:

Proposed employer | Top End Junior Football Association

Proposed duties | paid part-time junior assistant coaching

Proposed weekly hours | approximately six, subject to fixtures

Primary employment continuing | full time, warehouse shift supervisor

Attendance conflict procedure | advise both supervisors promptly

Fatigue requirement | ordinary workplace policy remains applicable

Permission status | noted, subject to performance and scheduling requirements

Child supervision provided by warehouse | none; separate employer responsible

No childcare, coaching or private transport duty forms part of the warehouse position. The company does not evaluate a candidate's statutory clearance. It confirms current employment and the checked personnel fields requested. The letter's absence of a conduct finding is limited to this employer and the period since August 2022.

Ordinary feedback is retained separately from discipline. For example, handover notes ask staff to use a demonstration when a new starter has not understood a verbal instruction. That feedback applies to operations quality and does not allege an assault, threat or workplace intimidation. The operations manager may give further detail about observed disagreements in her reference; payroll does not transform those examples into criminal-history entries.

Address administration: payroll recorded the Gray residence effective 1 November 2022. This confirmation does not supply a complete five-year address history. Historical tenancy records belong to their own issuer. No current licence-address correction is lodged by the company. A differing address on an identity copy requires the candidate's own administrative response.

Every private identity, company identifier and contact in this file is fictional. The extract contains no business registration, authentic seal, actual payroll identifier or routable banking detail. Invalid placeholders are intentional. Signatures appear as text only. This four-page document is a records response, not a general recommendation to grant or refuse clearance. Signed for release: Beren Holt, 26 September 2026. Contact: employment@arafurafreight.example.invalid; telephone 08 7000 0xxx.
